

August is National Eye Exam Month. We often take our eye sight for granted. Sit for one minute with your eyes closed - maybe in the classroom, outside, in the hallway, any location – and notice what it’s like to not “see” anything. How was this similar or different to sitting in this same location with your eyes open?